The Point . . .

- ▶ The whole point of doing mocks is to have a run through of the exam season to prepare – a “mock up” of the real thing.
 - ▶ However, to get full use out of the experience of the mock exams, the most important part is how you react to your results.

Believe The Results!

- ▶ Believe the results: the grades you received are as honest and accurate as we are able to be at this stage -no-one is playing any tricks on you
 - ▶ You need to make a positive decision about what you are going to achieve, then set out to do it

I did really well! Much better than I expected!

- ▶ Good for you! Well done. Work out what you did right. Build on that success. Make sure it's repeatable; replicate that success in every test, practice paper and revision exercise between now and the summer so it becomes second nature.

I did really badly.

- ▶ This is okay provided you learn from the experience. What went wrong? Did you not do enough revision? Did you do the wrong sort of revision? Is there a topic, concept, or idea you are struggling to understand? Did you forget to “please turn over” and miss out a 32 mark question printed on the last page?
- ▶ You have to take action. Work it out. Ask the questions. Listen to the answers.

I did okay. It's good enough.

- ▶ This is the most dangerous reaction of all. “Okay” is not good enough. “Okay” is the equivalent of saying that you are satisfied with not doing as well as you could – it is worse than failure.

IT'S NOT HOW GOOD YOU ARE,
IT'S HOW GOOD
YOU WANT TO BE.
